The power of HD video communications on the desktop

LifeSize Communications and LG Electronics are excited to announce LG Executive, powered by LifeSize® — the integrated high definition (HD) video communications solution designed to streamline your business.

LG Executive, powered by LifeSize brings HD video and voice communications to the desktop — combining camera, video endpoint and 24-inch HD display in one easy-to-use system. This solution is ideal for the executive office, remote employees, and teleworkers.

The Smart Choice for HD Video Communications — An optimized mix of HD quality performance, affordable price and interoperability. LG Executive's integration to other video communications and IP/PBX systems maximizes the return on video conferencing investment and makes broad deployment possible.

Simple and Easy to use — Set up takes minutes and only requires the connection of two cables. And the intuitive LifeSize user interface allows users to easily switch the system between HD video conferencing and PC monitor functionality.

Sleek and streamlined — The sleek 24" display fits easily on the desktop or in a small workspace, while delivering the same immersive experience as telepresence systems.

LG Executive, powered by LifeSize makes desktop video conferencing as simple as a phone call, with the benefit of face-to-face interaction and collaboration. Isn't it time to upgrade your business communications?
